NOTE: The following series of about Four Thousand (4,000) different Marriage Licences is alphabetized by the names of both the Bride & Groom. Consequently, there appear here about 8,000 entries in all. They ran serially in the Volumes IX. and X. of the Kildare Journal.

On 30 June, 1922, in Dublin occurred one of the most disastrous and vandalous destructions of Public Records in modern history. During the Civil War in Ireland, between the Government of the Duly constituted Irish Free State, and the Irish Republicans under Eamon De Valera, a group of Republicans took possession of the famous Old Four Courts Building in downtown Dublin. In that building were housed most of the Public Records of Ireland from the middle ages to that time. The rebels set off a series of mines which blew up the record office and set the entire building afire. Few records were "salved." The books with the entries of the ensuing Marriage Licences were totally destroyed along with all the original Bonds which were often filed with them. This series, published, fortunately, some years prior to the disaster, most of the information given in the originals. - Henry Hollingsworth.

FERNS MARRIAGE LICENCES.

EDITED BY HENRY C. STANLEY-TORNEY, F.R.S.A.I.

THE diocese of Ferns embraces portions of the counties of Wexford and Wicklow, the remaining portion of Wexford being in the diocese of Dublin, and that of Wicklow in the dioceses of Dublin, Glendalough, and Leighlin. After the death of Bishop Meredith of Leighlin it appears that that diocese was, in 1660, united to Ferns, under Bishop Price, the then Bishop of Ferns, and the conjoint dioceses were after the death of Bishop Elrington united in 1835 to Ossory, under Bishop Fowler, the then Bishop of that diocese. The records, however, appear to have been kept distinct. The marriage licence records of Ferns appear to be only available from Bishop Price's time, 1660-1666, the earliest being in 1662.

A return made in 1812 by the diocesan registrar, Thomas Bridson, in answer to the queries of the then Commissioners appointed by His Majesty respecting the Public Records of Ireland, gives some information relating to these diocesan records. He says that they consisted of wills, when proved, from the year 1650, partly legible, others prior, not legible, also books, containing copies of wills, entries of marriage licences, copies of leases, examinations of witnesses, letters patent, acts of council commencing about the year 1618, and up to the year 1714 and 1723, one of which, he says,

"I alphabetized as well as I could, and the others have not proper, or I may say any, alphabets—all very irregular and in very bad order. Three other books, commencing in 1726 to 1774, in bad order as to binding, but regularly alphabetized. Other books from 1775 up to the present (1812) in good order and alphabetized. There is a chasm or deficiency in all the wills and also in the books, save as to one of the old ones from 1716 or 1718 to 1724, supposed to be taken out of the registry for the purpose of misleading a person in searching and preventing any titles under a will to be made out (!)." "I have entered,"

NOTE

he goes on to say, "the wills in one book, and the administrations and licences in a separate one from the wills, but the rise in paper and books fit for the purpose is now so enormous that it will be very difficult to get proper paper, which ought to be very strong for such, the emoluments of the office being so small."

He describes the indexes. Says he believes there are complete indexes to all the books except the first three or four.

"The index to one is sometimes put down in the Christian Name, and sometimes in the Surname, and there is one that has a kind of index that I do not think belongs to it."

He remarks that he does not think that any great utility would result from such indexes being completed, as he does not imagine that there is anything therein of any material consequence (!).

"About a month or six weeks or less, without interruption, might complete same, but it is impossible in this office, being a public one and having no one to attend but myself, except my son at times, to be without interruption. I don't know any place where, or any person in whose hands, any indexes are that may be wanting. I got the old books from the late Mr. Stafford, of Dublin, Notary Public, who had been Register, and the wills and one book from Mr. Vicary, who acted as Deputy Register under Mr. Stafford."

An entry of a licence for the marriage of a Mr. Thomas Bridson to Patience Patten (29th November), 1788, appears in the collection, as also that of a Thomas Bridson to Magdalen Vicary (9th September), 1792.

After the lapse of over sixty years these records reached the Public Record Office, but not without some vicissitude, as we learn from the eighth report of the Deputy Keeper that—

A portion of the Diocesan Records of the Diocese of Ferns and Leighlin, which had for some time been in irregular custody owing to its non-delivery by the carriers, was, through the intervention of the Crown Solicitor for Ireland, recovered and transferred to the office on the 12th November, 1875, under the warrant of the Master of the Rolls.

NOTE

The records so recovered included the volumes here dealt with. At present they consist of fifteen volumes, numbered 1 to 13, and in a new series 1 and 2.

The entries of marriage licences dealt with in the following index are contained in volumes 1 to 7, inclusive, and volume 1 of the new series, noted in index as volume 7a. These volumes overlap each other.

The following chart shows the years embraced by the volumes dealt with and their overlapping. The marriage

The books are much in the same condition as in Registrar Bridson's time. Many inaccuracies, wrong spelling of names, repetitions of entries, insertions of later dates between earlier ones, places of abode frequently left out, the entry running: "Let a licence issue between the parties herein mentioned," the names only being in the margin. In cases of doubtful names the Bonds, when forthcoming, have been consulted. As to the indexes, some give only the husband's surname, omitting that of the wife. A good many names are omitted altogether. In volume 1, new series (volume 7a, in this index), considerably over 200 names are omitted! Wrong pages are given; in some cases no alphabetical order is observed, as "Bennett with Healy," under letter C, etc.; Bryan Roache as "Bryan R." instead of "Roache, B.," the surname being Roache. Wrong spelling, as "Champion" for "Chambers," "Betts" for "Bettel," etc.

I trust that this amalgamated index will prove of assistance to genealogists, as well as interesting to members of our Society. I have to give expression of my sense of the facilities given by the Deputy Keeper, and I have to acknowledge, with thanks, much assistance kindly afforded to me by the Assistant Deputy Keeper and Dr. M'Garry.

[NOTE.—That where there is a blank for a name, the name is not given in the original entry. In cases where the year is not given in the entry it is conjectured from the immediately previous and succeeding entries, and placed in brackets.]

KILDARE MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT.

1559-1800.

BY THOMAS ULLICK SADLEIR.

THE BOROUGH OF NAAS.

Returned for the Borough of Naas, January, 1559.

Henry Draicott.

John Sherlock.

Henry Draicott, of Marinerstown, County Meath, was second son of . . . Draycott, of Densby, in Staffordshire. We first hear of him in Ireland in 1545, when he was appointed Second Engrosser of the Exchequer during pleasure; and in the same year Remembrancer of the Exchequer for life. He seems to have been a painstaking official, high in favour.

On 6th August, 1557, the Queen, writing to the Lord Deputy, says, "And in consideration of the honesty of the Chief Remembrancer, and of his good service, Her Majesty directs a lease to be made to him for twenty-one years of all the lands at present in his possession." On 23rd January, 1562, he was appointed 3rd Baron of the Exchequer, resigning in 1565; but on the death of John Parker in that year he was restored to the bench by being placed in the high office of Master of the Rolls. Again appointed 3rd Baron of the Exchequer in 1570, he retained both judicial positions till his death. He had been made in 1561 Chancellor of the Green Wax of the Exchequer; and thus in 1564 we find "Henry Draicott, Chancellor of the Exchequer," one of the Commissioners to "distinguish such lands of the Earl of Kildare as during the attainder were leased, and to make allowance to him for the rents payable by them."

By lease dated 28th November, 1565, Adam, Archbishop of Armagh, Dean of the Cathedral of St. Patrick, Dublin, and the Chapter, granted to him all the tithes, personal, predial, and mixed, of corn and hay of the rectory of St. Brigid, of Killossery, County Dublin, to hold for twenty-one years, at a rent of £13 6s. 8d., finding a chaplain to celebrate the sacraments and rites in the church of Killossery, and repairing and maintaining the chancel.

Miscellanea.

Place Names in the County Kildare in the Sixteenth Century.

The following extracts are taken from the original Chancery Inquisition (County Kildare, No. 1 of Elizabeth), on which the following names appear as jurors:—

1558

Gerald Baron, of Currahill.

James Long, of Derr.

Edward Misset, of Dowdingstown.

William Rochford of Newton juxta Clane (now Millicent).

Alexander Thonder of the same.

John Yonge, of Newton O'More (i.e. Newtown near Tipper).

Oliver Wogan, of Downings.

Thomas Pinkiston, of Balinkeppagh.

Robert fitzGerode, of Carryckmore (a FitzGerald of Allen).

John fitzRichard, of Balletage (also a FitzGerald of Allen).

Gerald Wesley of Barreston (a Wellesley, of Barrettstown).

Walter Bretingham, of Donferth.

They were summoned to inquire what lands were held from the Crown by Gerald, late Earl of Kildare, father to Gerald, now Earl of Kildare.¹ They assembled at Clane in the month of August, 1563, and ascertained that Gerald, the late Earl, was seised in fee of the following:—

A castle and 60 acres of land in Miloteston,² which he had purchased on the 30th September, 1509, from one Christopher Usher, Merchant of Dublin.

The Rectory and Vicarage of the Church of Downada,³ and 60 acres in Downada.

The Rectories and Vicarages of the churches of Coswogowl⁴ and Noraghe⁵ (these names, however, were scratched through).

¹ Gerald, now Earl of Kildare, was the 11th Earl, "known as the Wizard Earl"; his father died in the Tower of London on the 12th December, 1533.

²? In the Manor of Naas.

³ Donadea, i.e. Domhnachcaoidhe, or Donaghkeen.

⁴ The district of Coshgowlay in the County Kildare to the South of Monasterevan; in eighteenth-century maps it is shown as belonging to the King's County. It comprised the parishes of Ballybrackan, Harristown, and the western half of that of Fontstown (see the JOURNAL, vol. viii, p. 405).

⁵ Now Narraghmore.

NOTE by HH: Here, Volume "8" is given where Vol. 7 a was given heretofore.

FERNS MARRIAGE LICENCES.

Miscellanea.

The Fourteenth-Century Eustace Effigy now in the Protestant Church at Ballymore-Eustace, County Kildare; with Notes on the Family.

By LORD WALTER FITZGERALD.

When the members of our Society visited the Church at Ballymore-Eustace during the Excursion in September, 1919, they were shown the early effigy of a knight, supposed to be one of the FitzEustace or Eustace family. This tomb belonged originally to the churchyard at Old Kilcullen; in or before 1858 it was removed for preservation to Barretstown Castle, near Ballymore-Eustace, by Sir Erasmus Dixon Borrowes, Bart.; and on the recent sale of that place by his son, Sir Kildare D. Borrowes, it was transferred to its present position in February, 1919.

The slab bears no inscription.

The effigy, which is damaged about the legs and sword scabbard, has been repaired with cement; the chain-armour, too, was unfortunately recut while the effigy was in Sir Erasmus's charge.

The knight is clad in chain-mail, with plate-armour on the head, arms, and legs, to just above the elbows and knees; this shows the transition stage between mail and plate armour, which occurred (according to ffoulkes's "Armour and Weapons") between the years 1277 and 1410.

In an engraving of Old Kilcullen Church of 1792, then shown as roofed, of which there is now no trace, in Grose's "Antiquities of Ireland" (vol. ii, p. 27), this effigy is seen placed in an upright position leaning against the south wall of the nave; in this position it was sketched in 1782 by the antiquary, Austin Cooper, which is here reproduced. In vol. i, p. 27, of our JOURNAL, a photograph, taken of it when at Barretstown Castle, has been given.

In the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries the FitzEustaces were the second most powerful family in the County Kildare; they were sprung, in the fourteenth century, from the Le Poer or Power family. This is proved by the following facts:—

- I. Their war-cry was "Poeragh-Aboo," i.e., the le Poers to Victory.
- II. Their crest was the same as the le Poers', viz., a stag's head, with a crucifix between the antlers. The coat-of-arms, however, is totally different.

Wolfe of Beauford.
Wesley of the Norragh.
——— of Blackhall, or Boranston
Wale of Frampleston.
White of Sherlockston.
——— Leixlip.
Younge of the Newton of Mone.
——— of Youngston."

Of these and many other families not less connected with the county, as De Vesci, Burgh, Ponsonby, Lawless, Archbold, Borrowes, Warren, Hart, Moore, &c., as well as of the native septs, it is my intention to embody in my "History of the County of Kildare" such adequate memoirs as my own genealogical collections, aided by family pedigrees or documents of authority, may supply, if my hope of local co-operation be early verified, in which case I will beg leave through your advertising pages to invite such further information as your subscribers and readers may be able to communicate.

Let the drum beat, the trumpet sound
His lot is cast in peaceful ground.
Let the winds rage, the waters roar,
His foot is safely fixed on shore.
From courts episcopal and lay,
Wisely he keeps his steps away :
Nor envies, in his easy chair,
The twelve months' pride of my Lord Mayor ! ”

Let us conclude with just four lines, the end of a long circumstantial account of his first domestic quarrel :

“ Who can expect that man or wife
Should travel the whole road of life ;
Yet never meet in all their way
One dirty step, one rainy day.”

FERNS MARRIAGE LICENCES.

THE CHETWOOD LETTERS.

[The following letters, though not written by Knightley Chetwood, were from members of his family, and fittingly conclude the series.]

Dr. Sr.,

My Father Chettwood was with me this day about the bond and desired me to tell you that no man could be expected to be punctuall in the payment of so large a sum exactly to a day, but that in ten days or a fortnight, or after the Holydays he would be ready for Brother Mahon. Yesterday I sett a Lease in reversion of my lands of Simons Court to Mr. Reves the Silk Mercht. for 14 yeares after the expiration of Fisshers Lease, for which he is to pay me down the first of July next as a fine the sum of £425 which with ye fine to be paid me by Davis and McGuire will help to make me easy. the occasion of my doing this is that Fissher is cutting up my Meadows to make bricks and that we have commenc'd a Law suite already on yt head. Knightly writes to you all ye news so that I shall add no more but that we are all well and yr. Huml. Servts. I am Dr. Sr. Yr. Most Dutyfull and Affect. Son.

Dr. Ussher.

Dublin, April 26th, 1726.

Dear Sr.,

I would not have been so long in answering your Letter ; but that I been at Grace's Dieu for some time were I have Left Catty ; In hopes that the good air of Graces Dieu may recover her we think to go there very soon with the rest of our family ; but when Cosen Maddin gos is uncertain ; as for Brother Jack and his wife there Intirely out of that affaire ; they have Left our neighbourhood and have taken Lodgings in Cow Lane ; I wish my sister may be a better neighbour to Cosen Ussher then she was to us ; my father Chetwode has been at Harristown to our Great supriss ; he returned last satturday ; a sunday we had our Charity Sermon Preached by the Bishop of Clonfert, they Collected one hundred and fifty seven pound ten shillings ; which I think was a very great collection ; I was yesterday to wait on my Lady king who allwayes asks mighty kindly for you and bid me besure to give her services to you ; I have got one book from Mrs. Harman if that be all she
